JOB HISTORY

Engineering Technician I – 07/2021 to present (Contract)

Osmose Utilities Services – Atlanta, GA

- Uses QGIS to assist in analyzing utility poles in Southwest Arkansas by verifying if pole images show the correct pole via buildings shown in attached pole images
- Uses QGIS's Google Satellite Map plugin to analyze pole power line length to determine if clearance analysis is necessary
- Analyze poles to determine if they meet NESC clearance (how high the power lines are above streets/driveways) and safety standards
- Propose adjustments to poles (moving a transformer or wire upwards, replacing the current pole with a taller or sturdier pole) in the event they do not meet clearance or safety standards
- Utilize O-Calc to perform analysis on poles, create proposed poles, and Helix to log any changes needed to current poles
- Utilize O-Calc to analyze LiDAR (Light Detection and Ranging) data to create poles in 3-D environment and compare them against the surrounding environment (foliage, buildings, roads)
